DESCRIPTION

Anglepoise Giant 1227 floor light by George Carwardine for Anglepoise.

This spectacular, triple-scale version of the classic Anglepoise Original 1227 light was first created for the Roald Dahl Museum, in tribute to the celebrated author's fondness for this light. Dahl used the standard version of the Anglepoise 1227 at his writing desk.

The Giant 1227 light combines the high-quality fittings and expertly engineered features that are as standard with Anglepoise. Its elegant, classic looks make it a hugely practical piece of lighting that can genuinely be described as a design icon.

This light can also be made to order finished with a custom colour of your choosing for an additional charge. Please enquire for details.
