DESCRIPTION

Aalto 97 Extension Table by Alvar Aalto for Artek.

Artek stands for art and technology. The Finnish company is renowned as one of the most innovative contributors to modern furniture design. They stand out for the clean lines, quality and longevity of their products, all made using a combination of traditional craftsmanship and new techniques.

The Aalto Table conveys a relaxed familiarity that resists categorisation. Whether used for dining, working, or playing, the table retains its character while offering endless possibilities. In accordance with Alvar Aalto's conception of versatile furniture, it moves naturally between public and private spheres.

The Finnish birch from which Aalto tables are made boasts a natural beauty and radiates warmth; environmentally friendly, it will age gracefully over time. As with all Aalto products, the Aalto 97 Table designed in 1956, continues to be fabricated semi-industrially, according to strict criteria and with a high proportion of handcraftsmanship.
