DESCRIPTION

Aalto NE60 Children's Stool by Alvar Aalto for Artek.

Artek stands for art and technology. The Finnish company is renowned as one of the most innovative contributors to modern furniture design. They stand out for the clean lines, quality and longevity of their products, all made using a combination of traditional craftsmanship and new techniques.

This four-legged children's stool is the most elemental of furniture pieces, equally suitable as a seat, table, storage unit, or display surface. The legs are mounted directly to the underside of the round seat without the need for complicated connecting elements. Thanks to its geometry, the stool can be stacked to save space in a spiralling tower sculpture. Hardwearing and versatile, Stool NE60 is created from the original L-leg system of standardised components and is equally suited to homes, public buildings, and educational facilities. First produced in 1934, this stool has been part of children's lives for generations.
