DESCRIPTION

Penguin Dining Chair by Ib Kofod-Larsen for Audo Copenhagen.

The Penguin chair is a light yet elegantly sculptural dining chair first produced in 1953. A modern Danish icon and a mid-century best-seller, its name is derived from the aquatic, flightless bird. The chair features an oversized, flipper-shaped backrest showcasing an organic approach to form, which gently embraces the sitter while handsomely contrasting the chair's slender base.

The Penguin Dining chair is available with numerous upholstery options and in two different finishes.

The Penguin collection comprises a Lounge chair and Rocking chair - see the 'Product range' below.

MATERIALS

The Penguin dining chair crafted from FSC™-certified oak and ash veneer. The base is made of black powder coated steel (RAL 9005), with seat and back in curved plywood with oak or walnut veneer finish.

The steel frame base is welded using robots. It is finished with a powder coating for a robust surface. The seat is crafted from bend plywood with oiled finish for a soft feel and protection for weather.

Suitable for indoor use only.
