

AJ52 Society Desk, 1952

Designer: Arne Jacobsen

Manufacturer: Carl Hansen and Son

£5,531

DESCRIPTION

AJ52 Society desk by Arne Jacobsen for Carl Hansen + Son.

Originally designed as a gift for the American-Scandinavian Foundation's New York office in 1952, Carl Hansen has launched the AJ52 desk. A unique and modern design, the table features a desk, lamp, table shelf and drawers in an impressive single structure.

The desk is made of solid wood, veneer and steel, with the tabletop covered with a fine-structured leather. The wooden shelf features two compartments with glass sides and an integrated stainless-steel lamp. Mounted on the desk's underside is a drawer unit suspended by metal tubes. The thoughtfully designed desk maintains an overall visual lightness with its slim and exposed detailing.

Drawers can be mounted on the left or right side of the table.

The desk can be ordered with the lamp module. Please contact us here for further information.

Please note: The price shown is for the desk without the lamp module.

The desk comes in two sizes.
