DESCRIPTION

LC2 Armchair chrome by Le Corbusier, Jeanneret and Perriand for Cassina.

The LC2 Chrome is a timeless model, which has made design history. Designed in 1928 and exhibited at the Salon d'Automne in Paris in 1929, it is the archetypal armchair in the new and modern conception of furnishings understood as "domestic equipment", re-issued by Cassina and produced exclusively since 1965. The separation of the metal frame and the cushions expresses a rationalist approach to industrial production.

Please note: the price is for feather padded cushions, please enquire for the polyester padded version.
