DESCRIPTION

3 Fauteuil Grand Confort | Three-Seat Sofa by Le Corbusier, Jeanneret, Perriand for Cassina.

The 3 Fauteuil Grand Confort three-seat sofa designed by Le Corbusier, Perriand and Jeanneret in 1928 is a timeless icon that pioneered modernist values of structure as decoration. An innovative example of the refined functional aesthetic that was embraced by designers in post war Europe.

This modernist piece is simple in form with a linear structure, similar to his architecture. The separation of the metal frame and the cushions expresses a rationalist approach to industrial production.

Original pieces can still be found in his buildings such as the Cité Internationale Universitaire in Paris. Cassina has revived this classic in the highest quality to offer an elegance, comfort and sense of design history to your home.

Please note; pricing example is for feather padded cushions, please enquire for polyester padded version. The sofa was previously called the LC3 sofa.

DIMENSIONS

MATERIALS

The frame of the LC3 is available in semigloss enamelled steel in the colours: black, grey, light blue, green, taupe, ivory or brown, or in polished chrome-plated steel.

The cushions are loose and are available with padding in feather with a polyurethane core, or padded with polyurethane foam and polyester padding. The chair can be upholstered in a selection of fabrics and leathers. Click here to visit the Cassina website to find out more about available upholstery options.
