£11,689

DESCRIPTION

271 Mex Cube modular sofa by Piero Lissoni for Cassina.

The Mex Cube modular sofa, designed in 2007, is part of the versatile Mex Range designed by Piero Lissoni. The wide range of various units allows for endless customisation for different uses.

Available in the range are two depths of sofa and units that can be combined, with or without backrests and armrests in different combinations, allowing for countless possible compositions. The units can also be used individually.

The different units are assembled by means of linking plates which can easily be installed on the base frame.

Pricing example is for a left and right end element (27101U & 27102U) and a centre element (27114U), as shown on the main image.
