DESCRIPTION

Flod Table by Ferm Living.

The Flod table is defined by its simple, functional form. The minimalist design features a streamlined, powder-coated galvanised steel profile with a contrasting ceramic tabletop.

Crafted in Italy using clay sourced from the River Po, and exercising traditional Italian design practices, the tiles have been formed entirely by hand with water and fire. The tiles are then thoughtfully placed into the frame unsealed to allow any moisture to smoothly infiltrate through the perforated frame.

The functional piece of furniture displays a clean expression for both casual and formal dining and is suitable for both outdoor and indoor settings. Please note as each tile is handmade, small variations might occur.

A coffee table alternative is also available upon request, please enquire here for details.

Please note: Available for shipping to the EU, EEA and UK only.
