DESCRIPTION

Taro Round Table by Jasper Morrison for Fredericia.

The Taro round table is part of a family of classic dining and meeting tables designed by Jasper Morrison. Made of solid oak, the collection paying homage to Børge Mogensen's iconic table designs.

The tabletop features longitudinal machined grooves along the table surface referencing the traditional plank table. The use of carefully selected knotless oak and minimal quartersawn staves creates a refined and streamlined finish.

Morrison was inspired to design the Taro table in order to make use of the premium grade quartersawn oak which is used in the production of many Fredericia furniture pieces. The timber used at the Fredericia factory comes from trees aged upwards of 150 years old when felled. The use of narrow staves for the tabletop ensures efficient use of the available wood while enhancing the overall elegance of the design.

Available in two sizes, the versatile round Taro table is suitable for use in a kitchen, dining room or meeting room.
