DESCRIPTION

Nelson Pear Crisscross Bubble Pendant by George Nelson for HAY.

Discover the exquisite Nelson Pear Crisscross Bubble Light, a masterpiece designed by George Nelson in 1947 and brought to life in 1952. This iconic mid-century pendant series comes with remarkable features and a timeless charm.

Crafted with meticulous attention to detail, the Pear Crisscross Bubble Light boasts an intersecting skeletal frame that adds a captivating contour to the pendant. Its shade emits a soft and diffused light, creating a soothing ambience in any space.

George Nelson drew inspiration from a set of luxurious silk-covered Swedish pendant lamps, but he wanted to offer an affordable alternative. To achieve this, he ingeniously utilized a self-webbing plastic material developed by the military. This translucent shell beautifully encases a lightweight, rounded-steel frame, ensuring a perfect balance of elegance and durability.

The Bubble pendant has earned a permanent place in the prestigious collection at the Museum of Modern Art in New York.

The Pear Crisscross Bubble Light is available in two sizes

The Bubble Pendant collection comprises a series of organic shapes and sizes. See 'More products in this range' below.
