DESCRIPTION

Copenhagen CPH 90 Desk by Ronan + Erwan Bouroullec for HAY.

A collection of furniture designed by Ronan and Erwan Bouroullec for the redesigned University of Copenhagen (KUA). The collection includes a wooden chair, a barstool and several tables.

The starting point for this series is an old university chair, architect Bernt Pedersen's trestle chair. This chair is a simple and beautiful chair with an uncomplicated identity. The Bouroullec interpretation has upheld the original chair typology (trestle chair) and sought to maintain the compelling simplicity of the original chair.

The aim was to create a range of educational furniture which in form and identity has a clear dating and which in a compelling manner uncovers the current functional needs of a university. It has also been the aspiration to distance the collection from the slightly institutional expression of the original chair and create furniture with greater originality and a more domestic expression.

MATERIALS

Solid oak frame in soaped or water-based lacquered finish. Solid walnut frame in water-based lacquered finish. Plywood table top in stained, lacquered or linoleum finish.

The low VOC (volatile organic compounds) content in the water-based variants emits significantly fewer pollutants, contributing to a healthier working environment and better indoor climate. Furthermore, water-based lacquer is often more durable than PU lacquer, so your wooden furniture can have a longer lifetime too.

Products made from FSC certified wood are sourced from sustainable forests with responsible management that reduces deforestation and ensures the forests' future preservation.
