Manufacturer: Koyori

DESCRIPTION

Makuri Ottoman | Upholstered by Michael Anastassiades for Koyori.

Characterised by its minimalist silhouette and gently curved seat, the Makuri ottoman has a welcoming presence that invites you to use it for relaxing. Meticulously crafted, the seat naturally evolved to be made from plywood, a material that requires careful and precise craftsmanship to ensure its strength and prevent warping.

Makuri was launched in 2024 at 3 Days of Design in Copenhagen, marking Michael Anastassiades' debut collection with Koyori. Anastassiades aimed to create a range that would seamlessly integrate into Koyori's existing collection while also considering its scale, function, and role within the household.

Although designed to accompany the Makuri lounge chair as a footrest, the ottoman can also be used independently as a stool.
