

Theia M, 2016

Designer: Mathias Hahn

Manufacturer: Marset

£1,078

DESCRIPTION

Theia M table light by Mathias Hahn for Marset.

This handsome table lamp, designed by Mathias Hahn, was named after the Greek goddess Theia, the mother of the sun, moon, and dawn. It was designed from Hahn's desire to create an object that would showcase the beauty of light and our fascination with it.

Theia's design comprises two half-spheres that intersect - one horizontal and the other vertical. This design allows light to be projected, reflected, and absorbed by objects, much like in the natural world.

You can easily adjust the lighting with Theia. Simply swivel the lampshade to uncover the light and use it as a reading light, or cover the bulb to turn it into ambient light.

DIMENSIONS

32dia x 43.5cmh

MATERIALS

Base and stem in lacquered iron.

Dissipater in lacquered aluminium with a built-in switch.

Vertical semi-sphere made of lacquered spun metal, with the interior in white, and a transparent smoked shade in thermoformed methacrylate.

Available in white or black.

Bulb: LED SMD 700mA 8,2W 2700K CRI90 913lm (included).

Integrated dimmer.

HELP / ADVICE

Call: 0207 837 1900

Email: showroom@twentytwentyone.com