

Losanges I rug, 2011

Designer: Ronan and Erwan Bouroullec

Manufacturer: Nanimarquina

£4,276

DESCRIPTION

Losanges I rug by Ronan & Erwan Bouroullec for Nanimarquina.

The Bouroullec brothers continue their study of simplicity and elegance with their new Losanges collection. It's about reinterpreting the traditional Persian rug using the ancient kilim technique.

Technically complex, the Losanges collection requires great skill as it involves combining 13 colours through the geometrical rhombus shape, a great challenge for the craftsmen of Northern Pakistan. As well as being crafted by hand, the Afghan wool is also spun by hand, which allows for some unique colour tones to be highlighted which make each rhombus different and each rug a unique item.

Losanges I is the original colourway (red) and Losanges II is the second version (black/white).

Please note, custom sizes available on request. Contact us for details.
