

Omkstak chair, 1972

Designer: Rodney Kinsman

Manufacturer: OMK 1965

£315

DESCRIPTION

Omkstak chair by Rodney Kinsman for OMK 1965.

The Omkstak chair is a classic of British design, created by Rodney Kinsman in 1972 and included in the permanent collections of twentieth-century furniture at V&A, the Design Museum in London and the Philadelphia Museum of Art.

Combining functionality and simplicity in a form that celebrates the materials and technologies used in its manufacture, the Omkstak chair is considered an exemplar of the hi-tech design era.

DIMENSIONS

55.5w x 49.5d x 75cmh

MATERIALS

A minimal tubular steel frame supports a seat and back made of pressed steel with emphatic circular perforations. The resulting structure is lightweight, extremely durable and suited to use as an indoor and outdoor chair.

Available in Traffic Red, Dahlia Yellow, Turquoise blue, Capri Blue, Jet Black and Pure White.

An Omkstak classic chair with chrome frame and coloured seat and back is also available.

HELP / ADVICE

Call: 0207 837 1900

Email: showroom@twentytwentyone.com