DESCRIPTION

RFH Terrace Table by Robin Day for &Tradition.

The RFH Terrace Table was designed in 1951 to sit within the Royal Festival Hall's restaurant and foyer seating. Similarly to the corresponding chair, the table was never mass-produced and has become increasingly rare over the years. In 2024, &Tradition partnered with the Robin and Lucienne Day Foundation to reintroduce the table to the market for the first time.

Essential to the table's aesthetic and structure are the four legs that splay at a slight angle and are reinforced with two supporting metal dowels, giving it a soft, industrial appearance.

The table features a compact laminate top and a durable black powder-coated steel frame, ensuring resistance to fading and water damage.

Available in two sizes, 75cm or 96cm in diameter.

DIMENSIONS

75dia x 72.5cmh

97dia x 72.5cmh

MATERIALS

Legs crafted from powder-coated steel tubing and steel rod.

The table top is made using compact high-pressure laminate with a black-coloured core, single-sided decorative acrylic lacquer on the top side and decorative melamine resin surface on the reverse.
