Arne Vodder, the internationally acclaimed Danish architect and furniture designer, played a pivotal role in shaping the golden era of Danish design during the 1950s and 1960s. In 1957, he unveiled a line of sideboards that garnered significant attention. Now, more than sixty years later, the family of Arne Vodder, in collaboration with Sibast Furniture, has delved into the archives to bring back the iconic Arne Vodder Sideboard Sibast No 11, produced by the original manufacturer.

Crafted from solid wood with oak and walnut veneer, the Sibast No 11 sideboard features reversible doors, presenting coloured surfaces on one side and wood on the other.
