DESCRIPTION

Environmental wall hangings by Alexander Girard for Vitra.

The architect and designer Alexander Girard was one of the leading figures in American design during the postwar era. His passion for colours, patterns and textures found expression in the field of textile design, which was a focal part of his oeuvre.

Beginning in 1971, Girard developed a series of screen printed graphics on fabric to add a touch of human warmth and emotion to office environments: the Environmental Enrichment Panels. For these designs, he showed a preference for abstract graphic patterns or figurative subjects based on such timeless themes as love, peace, and freedom. With a multitude of diverse and inspiring motifs, these large wall panels were also frequently used in private interiors.

Please refer to product downloads for further information on the series and care instructions.

Herman Miller has the sole license for the Alexander Girard collection in the U.S. and the Far East. Therefore the export of these products from the UK to the U.S. is not possible.
