DESCRIPTION

Heart Cone Chair by Verner Panton for Vitra.

Verner Panton's design career soared in the late 1950s, marked by a furniture collection showcasing sleek geometric forms. These creations not only foreshadowed aspects of Pop Art but also embodied the sophistication of Scandinavian Modernism in their craftsmanship.

Among the standout pieces is the Heart Cone Chair, named for its distinctive heart-shaped outline. The chair's expanded backrest wings evoke hints of Mickey Mouse ears, while also representing a modern twist on the traditional wingback chair.
